

Newton Fox

12 July 2024

I struggled to fit in time for business development amongst my other tasks like finance, payroll, IT, client calls and the occasional need to get involved in operations. I had a marketing plan which looked great on paper but any inroads I was able to make with contacting potential clients was insufficient and inconsistent.

Like most of us, a lot of spam goes into my junk folder daily. Usually, I don't have time to even glance through it, I simply delete all. But something caught my eye in the email from Chris Newton at the beginning of the year about opening the door and I was intrigued. Our business has never looked back. The relief of having a professional, friendly team to take the burden of calling potential clients and following through is immeasurable.

Thank you all so much!

We hadn't considered using a telemarketing before because we thought A) we couldn't afford it and B) how do we trust them to do what they say they do?

Newton Fox is so affordable and so trustworthy I do not hesitate to recommend you.
